1	The provided project files included the hypothesis model; however, the model included data only for the baseline period. Hence, no savings were calculated or claimed in the model. The reviewers expect the final model to include the data for the reporting period along with the installed measures descriptions. The final model must include a description of all measures completed with dates and their estimated impact, if available.	Continue Document Upload
2	Due to the seasonal operation of this type of facilities, the reviewers recommend using all 12-months to calculate annual savings; hence, 24 month for the entire two years cycle savings. Based on prior reviews of similar facilities, annualizing based on 3-months could result in a significant overestimation or underestimation of the energy savings.	Calculation method
3	Upload the YR1 completion report upon completion of YR1.	Continue Document Upload
4	The project files document that the facility has a non-IOW fuel source (on-site solar generation). More details should be provided regarding how this NIFS will be accounted for, and it's impact removed from the SEM claimed savings. Additionally, the reviewers recommend that the NIFS hourly/monthly production data during both the baseline period and the reporting period be made available to the reviewers and any ex-post evaluations.	Self generation
